Dinah, Benny Tops On TV

Robert Young, Jane Wyatt Also Take Top Emmies

Hollywood (P)—Dinah Shore, Jack Benny, Robert Young and Jane Wyatt were hailed the top performers of 1957 television Tuesday night at the 10th annual Emmy awards. Miss Shore scored a double win in the annual TV sweepstakes by winning gold statuettes for the best performance by a female entertainer and for the best entertainment show.

Benny, long overlooked by the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, also collected 2 Emmys—as best male entertainer and a special award by the board of governors.

The warm family filmed series, "Father Knows Best," won out over westerns and other comedy by scoring best for its stars, Robert Young and Jane Wyatt, as best continuing performances in a series.

But the horse operas weren't counted out entirely. "Gunsmoke," was pronounced the best series with continuing characters. It also is generally the number one show in audience ratings.

Polly Bergen was another of the lucky winners, but not for her weekly singing stint. She was termed the best actress in a single performance for her work in "The Helen Morgan Story," on "Playhouse 90."

Ustinov
Britisher Peter Ustinov was named for best single performance by an actor as Samuel Johnson on "Omnibus." Phil Silvers, who picked up a couple of Emmys a couple of years ago, claimed another when his barracks laugh-getter was named best comedy series.

Ann B. Davis, the long suffering Schultzy of "The Bob Cummings Show," drew best supporting actress honors.

Carl Reiner, veteran sidekick of Sid Caesar, won again as best supporting actor.

Another veteran winner was Edward R. Murrow for best news commentary.

"Omnibus" scored again as the best public service program or series.

Best single program for the year, the academy voters decided, was the hard-bitten "The Comedian," which Mickey Rooney played on "Playhouse 90." "Playhouse 90" also repeated as best dramatic anthology series.

As for national rivalry is concerned, Hollywood came out on top. It totaled 17 awards compared to New York's 11.

Williams, Kean Win N.J. Vote

Newark, N. J. (P)—Former Rep. Harrison A. Williams Jr., a Democrat, and Rep. Robert W. Kean, a Republican, Tuesday night won New Jersey's U.S. senatorial primary nominations.

Williams, supported by Gov. Robert B. Meyner and the Democratic state organization fought off a strong bid by Hoboken Mayor John J. Grogan, president of the Shipbuilding Workers Union.

Kean, veteran congressman and a follower of President Eisenhower's policies, led Bernard M. Shanley, one of the President's former aides.

Williams, a 38-year-old lawyer, was Meyner's personal choice for the nomination. Williams first shot into national prominence in 1953 when he was elected to Congress from a district that had never before gone Democratic. He lost in the 1956 Eisenhower landslide.

Waverly OKs School Bonds

Lincoln Star Special

Waverly, Neb.—A $297,000 school bond issue received overwhelming approval here Tuesday from voters in the school district by a vote of 462 to 185.

In 2 previous special elections in 1955 and 1956 the issue had narrowly been defeated. A 55% majority was required for passage.

Supt. Sam Metcalf, who said it is hoped to have the building ready for occupancy in 1959 or 1960, reported the new building would give the school 7 additional classrooms, adequate science facilities, combination study hall and lunchroom, a hot lunch kitchen, vocational agriculture classroom and shop, and a gym-auditorium.

Highway Bill OK Expected

Ike Vetoes 1.5 Billion Dollar Water Projects Measure; May Sign Road Plan

Washington (P)—President Eisenhower vetoed a 1½ billion dollar water projects bill Tuesday, but indications appeared he will sign the $1,800,000,000 highway construction bill.

Both measures have been advocated vigorously by Democrats as weapons with which to fight the recession. They have had some strong GOP support, too.

Sens. Monroney (D-Okla.), Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Kefauver (D-Tenn.) promptly called for a major drive to override Eisenhower's turn-down of the water projects measure.

As for the highway bill, Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) indicated he expects Eisenhower to go along despite some objections.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, told a news conference he believes it is correct to say that the advantages of the measure outweigh in the President's mind the features he considers objectionable.

"I hope the President will sign it," Knowland said. The water measure would not have gone into effect immediately, even if the President had signed it. It would merely authorize projects, with the actual appropriations to come later.

Eisenhower said in his message of disapproval that many of the projects it proposed were worthwhile. But he said others were wasteful and some were included against advice based on "careful study and considered judgments of the professional services and other executive agencies concerned."

No one was greatly surprised when Eisenhower vetoed the water bill; he had turned down a similar measure and for similar stated reasons in 1956.

The Senate approved it on a 52 to 41 count. The House passed the measure 321-81.

The 3 Reasons
"We support action to override for 3 reasons," Sen. Liebers told The Star:

(1)—"It's a much better bill than the 1956 measure which was also vetoed. It contains fewer unapproved projects and the dollar value of those projects is small.

(2)—"Economic conditions are vastly different now.

(3)—"The favorable majority vote in both the House and Senate."

Whether the measure can secure those strong majorities again came under some doubt Tuesday when Sen. Robert Hruska who voted for the bill said he "will sustain the veto."

Nebraska projects included in the measure:
Flood control—Shell Creek near Columbus, $2,025,000; Gering and Mitchell Valleys, $1,214,000; Salt Creek and tributaries, $13,314,000.

Also included was $400 million for the Missouri River Basin Development plan.

Sen. Curtis had voted against the bill and said Tuesday (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Snyder And Sorensen Win Moot Court

University of Nebraska law students Phillip Sorensen of Lincoln and V. Thompson Snyder of Omaha were judged victors in the moot court finals and winners of the Thomas S. Allen competition.

At finals held in the State Supreme Court the Sorensen-Snyder team won out over the appellant team of John McElhaney of Lincoln and Robert D. Hill of Colorado Springs, Colo.

The finals of the 2-year competition involving the entire law college student body drew a capacity crowd.

Judging the finals were State Supreme Court Justices Edward F. Carter, A. E. Wenke and Paul E. Boslaugh.

4 YOUTHS GUILTY IN BOY'S MURDER

... 3 Teen Gang Members Acquitted

New York (P)—Two youth gang members, wayward products of the city's streets, were convicted of second degree murder Tuesday night. An all-male jury spared their lives in the park slaying of a chance target, a police-maimed boy.

Two other gang members were convicted of manslaughter. The remaining 3 were acquitted.

The long, costly mass homicide trial of the youths lasted more than 3 months. It threw a harsh spotlight on a mounting urban problem—teen-aged violence and youth gang lawlessness on city streets.

It cost the state an estimated $250,000 to prosecute the youths. But after the verdict, Asst. Dist. Atty. Alexander Herman said:

"We decided that this was a case we wanted the people of this country to hear."

General Sessions Judge Irwin D. Davidson scheduled sentencing for May 21. He directed that the jurors receive $12 a day for their services, twice the usual $6 fee. He praised them for sincere devotion during a long, arduous trial.

Out 24 Hours
The jury was out 24 hours, almost to the minute.

The panel considered each of the 7 defendants individually. They deliberated 5 hours alone on one boy, who finally was freed. They took 6 ballots before sparing the life of another.

When the case went to the jury at 6:30 p.m. Monday, only 2 of the 7 boys still were subject to the death penalty, mandatory in New York for first degree murder.

The pair, Charles (Big Man) Horton, 18, a Negro, and Louis (Little Jesse) Alvarez, 17, a Puerto Rican, were convicted instead of second degree murder, punishable by a mandatory sentence of 20 years to life.

Manslaughter
Two others, not subject to judgment for first degree murder, were convicted of second degree manslaughter which carries a maximum 15 years in prison. They were Leroy (The Magician) Birch, 19, a Negro, and Leoncio (Jello) De Leon, 17, a native of the Dominican Republic.

The 3 remaining members of the Egyptian Dragons street gang were acquitted of manslaughter charges. They were John McCarthy, 15, and Richard Hills, 17, both white, and George Melendez, 16, Puerto Rican.

The boys were members of a gang war party that attacked and killed Michael Farmer, 15, white, crippled son of a city fireman, in an upper Manhattan park last July 30.

GAILLARD DEFEATED

Both Houses Of Parliament Hear Outburst Of Anti-U.S. Attacks

Paris (P)—The government of Premier Felix Gaillard fell Tuesday night, brought down by a National Assembly attack on his Tunisian policies and their American-British links.

The assembly, echoing with cries of anti-American sentiment, rejected 321-255 Gaillard's call for acceptance of a U.S. - British plan for settling the French - Tunisian dispute. Gaillard responded immediately by resigning.

Announcing his action to reporters, Gaillard said: "In the present circumstances it is in the country's interests that the crisis which opened be closed as rapidly as possible. Today we think of those overseas who suffer, who fight and who have confidence in France."

In Office 5 Months
Gaillard, a 38-year-old radical socialist who took the premiership little more than 5 months ago, drove hatless and coatless to the Elysee Palace and handed his resignation to President Rene Coty.

Though the vote was not on a formal motion of confidence, Coty did not try to persuade Gaillard to hold fast and ride out the defeat. The margin apparently had been too great for that.

Coty, 76, accepted the resignation. He asked Gaillard, however, to stay on as caretaker—the usual procedure in such cases—until a new government can be formed.

Technical Issue
The issue defeating Gaillard was a technical one. It involved his bid to shelve 5 motions from the extreme left and right which criticized his policy. Gaillard had declared he would consider the result an implied issue of confidence.

The government defeat came after a stormy day of debate in which both French houses of Parliament rang to an outburst of anti-American attacks.

Gaillard had called Parliament into special session in an attempt to win backing for his acceptance of the British-American good offices mission aimed at restoring French-Tunisian relations.

Also, offers of Negro housing for several Lincoln Air Force Base Negro families are being placed in reference files at the Council offices.

St. Paul Methodist Church Men's Fellowship Club voted to contribute $100 to the Brown family with hope it "might help correct a wrong and encourage living of the second great commandment to love thy neighbor as thyself."

The Lancaster County Board Tuesday reacted favorably to the suggestion of former Commissioner Chris Kuhner that the old county detention home be converted into apartments for Negro families.

Meanwhile spokesmen and others connected with helping the Brown family find housing and recover their lost belongings reported they had been receiving anonymous telephone calls which included threats that their own homes might be burned down.

John Likes Cheese
Glasgow, Scotland (P)—A butcher's apprentice faced 24 of Scotland's swiftest cheese eaters and humbled them in a contest at a food show.

John Friel, 19, won the first prize of 50 pounds ($140) for swallowing one pound of cheese in 5 minutes, 3 seconds.

Von Braun Wants To Send A Man 150 Miles Aloft

PENTAGON FAILS TO ENTHUSE

Washington (INS) — Army missile expert Wernher von Braun disclosed Tuesday that he has proposed sending a man 150 miles into space in a Redstone rocket equipped for a safe return to earth.

Von Braun told the newly-created House committee on Outer Space that his daring plan could be carried out "substantially earlier" than the Air Force project which calls for use of an X-15 rocket plan to put a man in space within the next 2 years.

But the rocket scientist said he had not found "much support" for his idea at the Pentagon. He said the chief roadblock seemed to be "a question of money."

Von Braun said the man could be sent into space in one year if he got a green light for the project.

Von Braun explained that the nose cone of the Redstone could be modified to provide a "capsule" which would permit a human being to spend as much as 5 minutes in outer space without ill effect.

He predicted that such an attempt will be "one of the next surprises" in the Soviet space conquest program. Von Braun said there are a "dozen young scientists" in the Army's missile program ready to volunteer for the pioneer space flight.

Both Von Braun and Pentagon research chief Herbert York warned the committee that the U.S. lags far behind Russia in space exploration efforts.

York testified that the U.S. might be able to catch up with the Soviets in 2 years "by putting our backs to it."

One scientist said that rocket shots at the moon, manned space flights, and a projected 970-day round trip to Mars are elements of a bold U.S. program to forge ahead of Russia in exploration of the universe.

Dr. Theodore C. Merkle of the Atomic Energy Commission's Livermore, Calif., laboratory, revealed that the AEC is developing a 2-stage nuclear-powered rocket designed to take man to Mars and back "in 970 days."

Merkle said the rocket is called "Old Pokey." He said it is "the most stupid rocket anyone could dream up and has only one advantage—it's very likely to work." But he did not predict when the 70 million-mile round trip to Mars could be attempted.

5 Leaders Honored By Scouts

... At Auditorium

In a colorful ceremony Tuesday evening at Pershing Municipal Auditorium, 5 Cornhusker Council Scout leaders, including 2 Lincoln men, were awarded one of Scouting's highest honors—the Silver Beaver Award.

The awards, given for outstanding service to youth, were presented by George Wilson, master of ceremonies at the Fourth Annual Recognition Dinner of the Cornhusker Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Those receiving the Silver Beaver Award: Oscar Alexis, Lincoln; Harry Pavey, Lincoln; Virgil Porter, York; John Bauer, Beatrice; and the Rev. Lawrence Williams, Peru.

Over 700 Attend

Speaking before more than 700 scout leaders and their wives, Dr. Gunnar Berg, national director of professional training and director of the Schiff Scout Reservation of the BSA, said, "A boy is an individual, not a member of the mob. He has likes, dislikes and rights."

"Scouting is life. A boy joins the Scouts because he wants to, not because he has to. Scouting must be a living, vital thing in order to hold boys. All boys belong in some phase of Scouting."

"Scouting is not a game for boys to horse around in, but a program to build character, citizenship, and love for fellow men into the lives of youth."

F. Don MacLay, Council vice president from Fairbury paid tribute to the unit leaders, Cubmasters, Scoutmasters, and Explorer advisers of the Council, and presented them with a certificate for their Scouting work.

Dr. Neal Gomon, Council vice-president from Peru, presented training awards to Cub and Scout leaders from the various districts of the Council.

Hunt Continues

City and state police early Wednesday were still looking for Larry Trescott, 24, who escaped from the Men's Reformatory Sunday while he was a trusty on the reformatory chicken farm. A Council Bluffs man, he was sentenced from Omaha.

Music news is covered thoroughly in The Sunday Journal and Star.

Home Burning Here 'Heard' Around World—Negro Singer

The recent firing of the Sherman Brown home in Lincoln will have repercussions throughout the world, according to Rosa Page Welch, Negro church and concert singer from Chicago.

Mrs. Welch, speaking at the Tuesday meeting of the Lincoln United Church Women, said, "Besides individuals or groups being hurt by what has happened in Lincoln, Little Rock and in some American schools, the whole principle of democracy is threatened."

Mrs. Welch, Chicago, a national figure in the promotion of inter-racial relations, is under the sponsorship of the National Conference for Christians and Jews.

"Things like this exert a terrible influence. Our missionaries carrying God's word to South America, Africa, and nations around the world must hang their heads in shame when hearing of occurrences like this."

Needs Our Prayers
"My heart went out to the person who would do a thing like this—he is in need of our prayers."

"This gives Communists all the ammunition they need. We ought not to do what is right simply because of adding to Communist propaganda, but do it because it is right."

"This shocked me, for I have always found cordiality and warmth in my visits to Lincoln. I believe the majority of people in Lincoln are shocked by this as much as I was."

Flood Bill Veto Override Urged

(Continued from Page One.) day that he "continues to oppose omnibus bills containing project proposals which do not have engineering approval."

Nebraska Congressmen Weaver, Harrison and Miller voted for the bill; Rep. Cunningham opposed it.

Demo Concurs
Frank Morrison of Lincoln, Democratic candidate for the Senate seat now held by Hruska, said Tuesday: "I concur generally with the position of Sen. Liebers."

Morrison added that "we have had so much trouble getting money for resources conservation and development in Nebraska that the veto should be overridden. We should exert every effort to get the bill passed, as it's in the economic interest of the state."

He said that Nebraskans should examine the voting records of the state's Congressmen to find out why some failed to support the measure.

Agrees With Ike
Republican State Chairman Richard E. Spelts of Grand Island "agreed" with Eisenhower's veto.

"Good legislation deals with the merits of each item of expenditure and the Republican theory of good government has always been that soundness in spending money is more virtuous than excited wild spending in an attempt to offset temporary lulls in the economy."

Air Base School Grant Restored To $845,000

By Nancy Benjamin
Schools Superintendent Steven Watkins and School Board President Glenn Yausi reported success Monday in restoring the federal grant on General Arnold Elementary School to the full request figure of $845,000.

Dr. Watkins said that the approval was given verbally Monday by B. Alden Lillywhite, assistant director for federally-affected areas of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Written confirmation is expected soon, Watkins said.

The 2 Lincoln men flew to Washington, D.C., to discuss the matter after the federal education officials had informed the Lincoln School Board that the federal grant would be cut from the $845,000 to $666,985.50 on the basis of estimated elementary school child population at the Lincoln Air Force Base housing which the grade school will serve.

Watkins explained that Washington officials were "very co-operative and understanding" and revised their figures on the basis of a Lincoln schools survey potential in the 1,000 LAFB present and planned housing units.

Mrs. Elden B. Hitz of 2955 So. 12, was named Tuesday as new president of the Lincoln United Church Women, succeeding Mrs. Raymond J. Becker.

Other new officers include: Mrs. Ed Hoyt, 1st vice - president; Mrs. Harold Armstrong, 2nd vice - president; Mrs. Ed M. Weaver Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. Herbert A. Jespersen, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. P. Davis, treasurer; and Mrs. C. B. Remington, auditor.

Former recording and corresponding secretaries respectively were Mrs. A. F. Daland, and Mrs. Henry Goebel. New officers will be installed Tuesday, May 20, at the First Baptist Church.

are based on a recent survey, and differed from the federal education standard estimates of 7 children per family, with 80% of school age, which would have resulted in a 560-child potential at the Lincoln AFB housing.

The Gen. Arnold School building has been termed "critically necessary" by Sept., 1959. Final plans for the school, to be built with federal funds, have been drawn up by Clark & Ernsong, Lincoln architects.

The unit will accommodate approximately 840 children.

Bids are expected to be received on the school construction by May after land lease negotiations with the Lincoln base and formal confirmation of the federal grant are finished.

Mrs. Wilson Named To Federal Post

Washington, D.C. — Mrs. Howard Wilson of Lincoln (Louise Baker) has accepted appointment to a 4-year term on the National Advisory Council on Vocational Rehabilitation, it was announced by Secretary Marion B. Folsom of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The 12-member Council, established under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act of 1954, reviews applications to the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation for Federal grants from sponsors of research and demonstration projects, and recommends approval of those which show promise of making valuable contributions to the rehabilitation of disabled persons.

Mrs. Wilson is the first person to serve a second term on the Council. She was one of the original members from 1955 to 1957. She also is a former director of public relations for the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, and was research associate at Phelps Institute, Antioch, Ohio.

She is widely known for her novels, one of which is based on her experiences as an amputee.

1,000 Apply Since Teacher Expense Refund Changes

Nearly 1,000 refund applications have been obtained from the Lincoln Internal Revenue office since the recent ruling that educational expenses are deductible.

Supervisor W. B. Rumbolz said requests for blanks came from teachers in Lincoln and surrounding region.

Rumbolz estimates the refunds on educational expenses incurred by most teachers at summer school would average about $50.

Under the federal ruling, expenditures for education are deductible if undertaken primarily for the purposes of (1) maintaining or improving skills required of the taxpayer in his employment or (2) meeting express requirement of taxpayer's employer as condition to retention of the taxpayer in his salary status or employment.

The expense is not deductible if the education was undertaken primarily for purpose of obtaining a new position or substantial advancement or for filling general educational aspirations of the taxpayer.

The ruling affects the tax years starting Jan. 1, 1954.

600 FILE LAST-DAY RETURNS

Approximately 600 persons filed federal income returns at the Lincoln office of the Internal Revenue Service before the deadline Tuesday, according to Supervisor W. B. Rumbolz.

Rumbolz estimated the last-day rush at about half the number of persons who appeared Monday.

Approximately 8,000 persons have been given some assistance in filing their returns since Jan. 1, he said.

Delinquent returns (filed after the April 15 deadline) are subject to a 5% penalty of the amount of the tax for each month or fraction up to a maximum of five months, Rumbolz said.

Oppenheimer Says Disarmament Accord Which Won't Become Obsolete Impossible

Difficulties Still In Way

Washington (AP)—Scientist J. Robert Oppenheimer said it is impossible to work out a disarmament agreement which won't be made obsolete by new scientific advances.

Oppenheimer, who directed the government laboratory which developed the first atomic bomb, said disarmament is not the Utopian idea it once was.

He said difficulties still stand in the way of an effective agreement, indicating that one of those difficulties is the impossibility of predicting what new scientific advances may be made. He said:

"With the enormous and unpredictable rapidity with which new things come up, we cannot possibly devise an agreement on disarmament that will be good 20 or 30 years from now unless we banish inquiry and discovery."

150 Editors —

Oppenheimer, who for the past 4 years has been denied security clearance by the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), spoke to the International Press Institute, whose annual assembly is being attended by more than 150 editors from this and other free world nations.

Oppenheimer, now director of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N.J., touched briefly on the question of radioactive fallout and U.S. efforts to curtail it drastically and develop what are popularly called clean bombs. Apparently with tongue in cheek, he said that to eliminate fissionable material which produces fallout you first have to do away with the bomb casing and then take away the rest of the bomb.

U.S. Loser

Washington (INS) — The Senate Disarmament subcommittee made public a military expert's testimony that the U.S. and not Russia would be the heavy loser in a suspension of nuclear tests.

The statement was made by Brig. Gen. Alfred D. Starbird, director of military applications for nuclear power for the Atomic Energy Commission, in secret testimony March 12. Subcommittee chairman Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) released a censored version.

3-Shot Polio Vaccination Urged For Those Lacking

Although it is now too late to receive maximum protection during the height of this year's polio season, Nebraskans who have not had Salk vaccine shots are urged to begin the 3-vaccinations now.

The State Health Department explained Tuesday that persons who take their first shot now could have the second one and "a degree of immunity which would help" by the middle of May. The second shot is given 3-4 weeks after the first, the Department said.

The third shot and "better" immunity comes some 8 months later.

Through Doctors

The Health Department does not distribute vaccine anymore, that program having been terminated last summer, it explained. Vaccinations can best be obtained through physicians.

Meanwhile, the Department Tuesday reported its second polio case of the year for Nebraska. It occurred in Douglas County.

Last year at this time, 22 polio cases had been reported. The Department explained that the great difference in figures could be the result either of an incidence increase or lack of complete reporting this year.

The Douglas County case was paralytic.

Nebraska's first polio victim of the year, Delbert Adair of 1710 So. 49th who was hospitalized Feb. 25th, is back at work and reported in "fine" condition.

Adair had not had Salk vaccinations.

Visit Delayed

Seoul (AP) — President Syngman Rhee has indefinitely postponed his projected visit to South Viet Nam. The 83-year-old chief executive has just recovered from a cold and physicians warned him against making the 2,000-mile trip at this time.

Automation Stressed At Trade School Dedication

By Betty Person

Milford, Neb.—The age of automation and the importance it brings to training centers such as the Nebraska State Trade School at Milford were emphasized Tuesday by A. C. Eichberg, administrative assistant to Gov. Victor Anderson.

Main speaker at the dedication services of the school's new $150,000 classroom and laboratory building, Eichberg told some 200 persons the Trade School plays a vital part in training young Nebraskans for useful occupations in this age of automation.

He also urged that the school emphasize the training of handicapped persons for useful occupations in our society.

2-Day Affair

The Trade School began its 2-day open house Tuesday to give Nebraskans an opportunity to see the recently completed shops where courses will be given in auto mechanics, body and fender repair, and diesel and farm tractor repair.

Stan Matzke of Hastings, former state legislator from the Seward and York area who introduced the bill in the Legislature authorizing the Trade School in 1941, said the school answers the problem Nebraska had of losing its young people to industrial centers.

He noted that the school has grown from its first "30 recruited students" to an average enrollment now of 400 students.

Dr. R. C. Gilmore of Kearney, president of the State Board of Education which governs the Trade school, said Nebraska taxpayers could well be proud of the school because "they have gotten more for their money here than they ever have in the history of Nebraska."

Thanks For Funds

Dr. Gilmore thanked Sen. Fay Wood of Seward, the Nebraska Legislature "and particularly Gov. Anderson" for their work in getting the emergency appropriation of $150,000 advanced to construct the new building following the Milford tornado last April.

School Director Lowell Welsh presented the plaques honoring the dedication to "the men who have built this school, the Instructors Five-Year Club."

Welsh commended the spirit of the school's instructors and students in making it such a fine institution, and Ivor Andrews, on behalf of the students, thanked "all the people of Nebraska" for making the building possible.

Current plans call for completion of the new training center building in the next 4 years as money becomes available from the state institutional building fund levy.

Signs Of Strength

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Political observers have been commenting a great deal recently about the cleavages in Republican party ranks. There is said to be considerable disagreement between the Eisenhower modern Republicanism and what might be considered regular or old line Republicanism.

Much of the cause for the reported splits in the Republican party is laid to the President's inability to keep all of his party behind him. This, in turn, is attributed to Eisenhower's lack of leadership and his distaste for putting up a fight on major issues. But recent events have left no impression that the President has lost his fight. Whether you care to agree with what he has to say or not, the President has taken a firm stand on a number of issues.

He is becoming more and more outspoken against any tax cut. This may be due to the fact that he believes the recession is about over or to the fact that he believes a tax cut would not provide needed relief. In either event, his stand against a cut is becoming more firm.

This, of course, will be popular with those who believe that a tax cut is more of a political vote-buying gimmick than a recession cure. These people cannot see the logic of giving a small pittance to the working force in order to help the unemployed who would get nothing.

Likewise, they cannot see the logic of a tax cut in the face of a mounting federal deficit and increasing demands for government services. They believe that it is somewhat ridiculous to expect, at least in the near future, for any tax cut to so stimulate business as to make up in new taxable income the amount of loss from a cut.

But the President has not limited his decisiveness to tax matters. He almost soundly defeated something like Harry Truman when he quickly tossed out, in answer to a question, his advice for people to spend their money. Just spend, he said, and our economy will be cured. He even threw in a criticism of industry for not tempting the public with more desirable goods.

Both the spending remark and the crack at industry were made from the cuff, so to speak, a manner of speaking to which the President heretofore has not been accustomed. His remarks prior to this on nearly all subjects have been of a very general nature and calculated not to offend or disturb anyone.

Beyond that, the President has virtually declared a war of wits against any who oppose his military reorganization plan. He has plainly informed his critics that he does not care one bit about what they think or say—he is going to stand up and fight in Congress for his reorganization bill.

He has done much the same thing, with perhaps a little less vigor, on his foreign aid program. While billed as a non-political issue, foreign aid is far from it and has plenty of enemies who see it as a good place to pick up votes. At least, foreign aid must be classed as controversial, whether non-political or not. In other less significant areas, the President has shown similar signs of more firm convictions.

We think this is an improvement as there must be a high degree of leadership from the White House if the affairs of the nation are to move forward. But in addition to this, it could serve to bring the Republican party much closer together by providing its members with a rallying point in one individual.

Foreign Aid Defended

The Question Of The Purse

The American people will remain open minded in most respects while the administration attempts to end by reorganization the cost and delays resulting from inter-service rivalry.

But they will give weight to the current objections of G.O.P. Senator Styles Bridges and Democratic Senator Lyndon Johnson on the question of who is going to run the money.

The Eisenhower Defense Department reorganization plan would pare down the powers of the Army, Navy and Air Force and give expanded authority to the secretary of defense. But it wishes the Congress to give the secretary more or less a blank check.

This latter is the hitch. Sen. Johnson has sharply objected. He said, "Congress is not going to do away with its appropriating power."

Sen. Bridges expressed the same resolve. He said, "I am not going to surrender the power of the purse to Secretary McElroy, the President or anyone else."

Both senators are on sound ground. The President should reflect that his plan in respect to the appropriations would reorganize the Congress rather than national defense.

It is to no point, either that Secretary McElroy has hastened to say that he would remain mindful of the wishes of Congress if it retreated from the money control. If that is to be the fact then there is no use in the retreating provision.

And even if it is the intention of the present secretary of defense largely to waive the privilege he cannot speak for future secretaries and it is beyond the point of credibility that all such would agree with McElroy's avowed restraint.

Another Local Controversy

Regardless of what you think of the proposal to sell the city-owned tract of park property at 23rd and O, there are a host of people who will disagree with you. No sooner had the proposed sale been announced in Monday morning's paper than callers began expressing their views on the issue.

The arguments against the sale are well known. They include the fact that the property in question was intended as an entrance to Antelope Park and the fact that pillars along the O Street side of the tract have a historic significance.

The pillars were given to Lincoln as its heritage from the old federal treasury building in Washington, demolished in the first quarter of the present century. Mayor Charles W. Bryan was largely responsible for Lincoln's receiving as many of the concrete pillars as it did. Some have thanked him for this; others have not.

Matter Of Housekeeping

The Nebraska Water Pollution Control Association is the newest member of the state's family of organizations bent on improving Nebraska. It was organized this week to lend focus and dynamic to currently fitful progress in ridding Nebraska waters of sewage and other polluting forces.

As he wished the new organization god-speed Governor Victor Anderson advised it that, "We have to sell everything we do in government."

Water management is not a poet's dream. Water has become one of the precious elements of the age. We have treated it badly and have lost heavily by it. Its pollution means the mis-spending of valuable elements, factors of fertility, increments of the soil's wealth, things which when placed where they belong enhance the state's prosperity, but which drive away improvement when they despoil the streams.

Pollution is a sign of bad housekeeping and good housekeeping ought not to have to be sold to a progressive state.

It was a matter of housekeeping that prompted the state of Minnesota to improve its lake region. It is exciting to learn that these lakes last year added $300 million to the state's income.

Nebraska has a great deal of housekeeping to do, tidying up its historic places, its recreation areas, its fishing and its productive water everywhere. And when it has finished it will be surprising how much that will have added to the state's income.

In The Man

Irving Dostis is a New York City boy who had a record for poor scholarship. He finished with the bottom one-third of his high school class. Then six years later, after a four year term in the Army and two years at hackabout work, he applied for entrance as an engineering student at City College New York. The school advised against it, but finally accepted him as a trial student. Now after four years Dostis is tied for the top scholastic honors in his class. And he worked his way through, too.

Of course, Dostis may be cited as an exception because few are prepared to make such an effort. But his case points up the difficulty of rendering vocational guidance on the basis of a boyhood record, and it demonstrates the great difference in educational achievement that comes through interest, work and purpose. In the nation's current quest of better education it could be suggested that ways of implanting the spirit of Dostis in the teen-agers could be worth a hundred new school buildings.

WASHINGTON — The cherry blossoms may be late this year, but the Daughters of the American Revolution, benign, busy, and buxom, are right on time in the nation's capital with their annual effort to keep things as they were when their ancestors crossed the Delaware or made whoopee following the surrender of Cornwallis.

The daughters have taken some potent positions on all sorts of policies, from Joe McCarthy to the banning of Marian Anderson from Constitution Hall. And this year one of their big battles is over fluoridation.

Chief banner-waver against this protecting children's teeth is Mrs. Ray Laverne Erb of 50 Sutton Place South, on swank East Side New York. Mrs. Erb is a lady of charm, distinction, and the positive view that the American Medical Association, the Public Health Service and the most eminent dentists in the nation are all wet about protecting children's teeth by fluoridating the drinking water.

Mrs. Erb feels about fluoridation just exactly as some old army officers playing pinocchio in the Army and Navy Club feel about the cavalry. They don't think missiles or airplanes should ever have replaced the cavalry. However, Mrs. Erb is in a better position to carry out her policies than retired army officers, for she occupies the strategic post of national chairman of the Daughters of the American Revolution and is also a member of the resolutions committee.

Long before the daughters beat the cherry blossoms in coming to Washington, Mrs. Erb was as busy as one of Charlie Wilson's bird dogs bombarding other daughters with literature showing that fluoridation of drinking water was "socialized medicine," inspired by the communists and "deprives us of our constitutional rights."

Mrs. Erb has even used the ex-Reverend ex-Communist Kenneth Goff as a propagandist to carry her dental banners into battle. Goff is a joiner of extreme causes, who jumped from the Communist party to Gerald L.K. Smith's rabble-rousing "Christian" party. In between he got caught passing bad checks and was convicted.

Nevertheless, Mrs. Erb sets such store by Goff's veracity that she is circulating his affidavit swearing that the Communist party "discussed quite thoroughly the fluoridation of water supplies and how we were using it in Russia as a tranquilizer in the prison camps. The leaders of our school felt that if it could be induced into the American water supply, it would bring about a spirit of lethargy in the nation; where it would keep the general public docile during a steady encroachment of Communism."

"We also discussed the fact that the keeping a store of deadly fluoride near the water reservoir would be advantageous during the time of the revolution, as it would give us opportunity to dump this poison into the water supply and either kill off the populace or threaten them with liquidation, so that they would surrender to obtain fresh water."

DORIS FLESON

Dick Chafes Under Ike's Detachment

WASHINGTON — The Vice-President has not accepted Vice-President Richard M. Nixon's political judgment about the recession though it is a judgment with which many government economists, past and present, agree. Nixon will, in fact, be in South America as the White House and Congress move into the clutches on a tax cut and other proposed recession cures.

The President has also blandly knocked down suggestions that he ought to give the vice-president a position productive of real executive experience. It is an odd circumstance that Nixon has never spent a day in an executive office, but it is true.

The vice-president, who works every day at politics, is thoroughly unhappy about these developments, but he can only bide his time. They, of course, deal heavy blows to the legend that he is at the heart of the government machine, mastering its every detail and wielding real power.

It would be difficult to suggest decisions more important to the Republican future than those being taken with respect to the economic decline. In the background of every GOP officerholder's thoughts must be the 17-over years and the great depression which led to so many votes of no confidence in that party.

The vice-president, of course, has his own immediate future in mind. He can and does to a measure disassociate himself from Eisenhower positions, but he knows he must run, if nominated, on the Eisenhower record, exactly as Adlai Stevenson had no choice in 1952 but to embrace Harry Truman. It did not help Stevenson that the embrace was grudging; it may have hurt him.

The question arises why, in a situation with such deeply political overtones, the President does not give greater weight to Nixon, the politician. Repeatedly Eisenhower has praised Nixon's capabilities and he has never questioned his techniques. Often the President has seemed to abdicate the role of leader of his party to the young vice-president, who likes it and devotes tireless energy and skill to it.

The answer seems to be that the President looks upon the recession purely as a business problem and has turned to businessmen for the answers. Congress understands that the most effective single voice at the White House on this issue is that of former Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey.

The President's Council of Economic Advisers supports a tax cut. So does its former chairman, Arthur Burns, in whom the President once had great faith.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Demos Divided On Summit Meeting

Washington—Former President Harry S. Truman has demonstrated once again what everyone has known about him for a long time—that he has no trouble whatsoever in making up his mind about almost any subject under the sun from taxes to the pleasures and pains of being a grandfather.

On a summit meeting Truman is nearly as firm in his opposition as President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. This is in part a reflection of the strong views held by Truman's secretary of state, Dean Acheson, on whom Truman relied almost as heavily as does President Eisenhower on Dulles.

There is, in fact, an interesting parallel in the relationship. When Acheson was under the most bitter attack, resembling that to which Dulles has recently been subjected, although more savage in tone, Truman would come to his defense as the greatest secretary of state in many and many a moon. Similarly, Eisenhower has championed Dulles as "the greatest" in history.

With Truman and Acheson—whose close friendship has continued since they have been out of office—both publicly opposed to a summit meeting with the Russians, a kind of bipartisan policy has been arrived at, if only by coincidence. But among Democratic leaders there is a strong dissent from the Truman-Acheson line. This dissent came out at the last meeting of the Democratic advisory council. With his lawyer-like skill, Acheson had prepared a paper nailing down his firm views on upholding the containment policy and rejecting overtures for a summit conference.

But Governor Averell Harriman of New York, Adlai Stevenson, twice the party's presidential candidate, and others interposed less rigid opinions. They did not favor going to an unprepared meeting with the Russians. They did argue, however, the importance of convincing the rest of the world and particularly America's allies that we were willing to negotiate and that we would not be dragged to the conference table like a reluctant bride.

Acheson would accept no changes in his text. The discussion grew fairly acrimonious as he let it be plainly known that even the change of a comma was unwelcome. The party view that came out of the meeting was the Acheson view.

Harriman told friends later that he was so unhappy about the outcome that he had seriously considered resigning from the council's foreign policy subcommittee. The first American official to warn at the end of World War II that Soviet Russia under Stalin meant to launch a campaign of aggressive imperialism, the New York governor is now convinced that an inflexible attitude can only divide the western allies and give Moscow one propaganda opening after another.

The close parallel between the Dulles and the Acheson outlook on American policy toward Russia is a striking phenomenon of the postwar era.

Acheson is preparing for publication a paper arguing the wrongness of United States presidents participating in international conferences. He cites the example of Woodrow Wilson and the tragedy of his visit to Paris for direct participation in the bargaining around the peace table that led up to the treaty of Versailles.

Dulles is known to hold the same view about the difficulty of a President, who is in effect both ceremonial head of state and prime minister, taking part in first-hand bargaining. Because the President's constitutional position is unlike that of all other negotiators at the summit, he is put in an awkward situation.

Quite apart from who may or may not negotiate with Moscow, Stevenson has long urged an end to the rigidities in the United States position on disarmament. More than a year ago he argued that the question of ending nuclear tests, with controls and inspection, should be separated from the production of fissionable material.

To Buy Or Not

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: First he told us to buy less and curb inflation. He now tells us to buy more to cure the recession. We cannot do both. Where do we go from here? To buy or not to buy—that is the question.

Our country's greatest economist told all of us last year: A buyer's strike would put inflation back in lower gear. If we'd buy less we'd help him, more inflation to avoid. Inflation still is with us—plus five million unemployed. Five million jobs have disappeared. Where did they go? And why? Our expert has reversed his field: he now tells us to buy. The spending spree has ended and the business boom is stopping. Buy and not buy? We can't do both. Let's all go window-shopping.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The Devil symbolized as male was no Jill. Nerg was never rated as a hero. Judas certainly caused an awful fuss. Bluebeard was only feared and jeered. Leopold had no heart of gold. Then there's the gent who boiled the lady's heart, giving the nation quite a start. Now, let's be fair; don't be a square. You aren't so smart. It takes two to stand or fall, so get on the ball. And don't put all the blame on us.

ANITA CLARK

The Hard Questions

Washington, D.C.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In her commentary on Americans for Democratic Action, Doris Fleson has neglected an important fact of American politics. For all her knowledge of the politics of parties and power, she has overlooked the politics of issues and ideals, which is ADA's reason for being, as well as its method of operation.

Ideas and issues have been the most powerful force in American politics since before the days of the Republic. In fact, the Republic itself was born of ideas as powerful as any that ever moved a people and an age.

In our own day it has been the power of ideas that changed the United States from isolationist to internationalist in its outlook; that forced the government to accept responsibility for maintaining full employment; that made the principle of equal rights and opportunities a national policy. Even our greatest adversary is an idea—the fanatical idea of international Communism. And now it is not too much to hope that here and abroad, ideas will soon break through the limitations of political leaders and point the way to disarmament and peace.

It is the role of ADA to be the purveyors of liberal ideas—no matter how controversial—in American politics. Naturally this process does not always endear us to political leaders—or them to us.

ADA will keep right on, focusing attention on the grave and difficult problems and on striving for solutions to them. It will continue to do this through speeches, through testimony before congressional committees, through conferences and through political action—through supporting liberal candidates who will translate into reality the concepts and programs and policies which we believe will be most beneficial to the men and women and children of this country.

ADA will continue as a force in American politics by having the courage and the foresight to seek the answers not to the soft questions, but the hard ones. It is the issues, not ourselves, that ADA takes seriously.

For Lasting Peace

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: We can no longer call this part of our country the bright spot of the nation now that we have taken up arms against our neighbors. It was a contemptible thing that was done to one of our own citizens—the malicious burning of a home of those who have asked for nothing but their constitutional rights, the right of every citizen to live, work and worship as he chooses.

What right have we to think that we are a superior race? How can anyone sleep peacefully, or look at themselves in a mirror without shame after an incident like this?

We have all had a black car, dog or cat at some time in our lives. Being black did not make us love them less. Our black car gave us good service, our black dog gave us love and devotion, our black cat caught as many mice, and our black neighbors can be our best neighbors.

In reply to one of my many letters, a lady (who didn't sign her name) was kind enough to send me 10 cents to have my head examined! I hope she will send me many more. More Debt

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Harry S. Truman, speaking to the Senate Banking Committee, proposed a cut in taxes of $5 billion to fight the present business recession. Has he any assurance that the ones who would receive the cut would spend money for goods and wares? The spendthrifts are now thinking of some savings that will follow. It would be just another $5 billion added to the public debt. When will we start to pay the huge debt we now have?

BEN KECK

Signs Of Hope

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The latest tragedy may not be in vain if it shocks us out of our lethargy. Surely the outrageous conduct of those responsible for the burning of the home of Sherman Brown is a disgrace to our city.

It appears that the only "crime" charged against this family is the color of their skin.

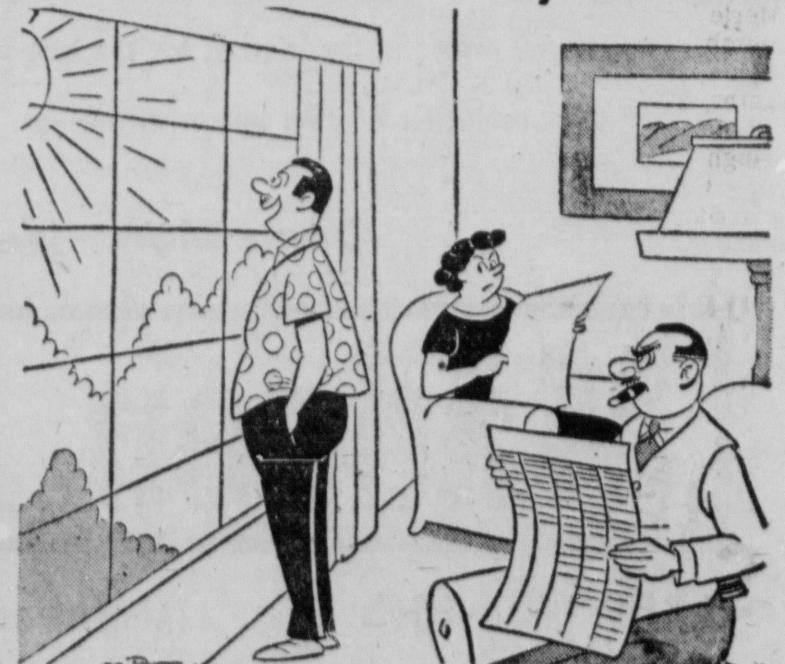

We all stand condemned. That Lincoln has been lacking in leadership, both public and private, in the field of human relations is only too obvious.

There are, however, some bright spots amid the encircling gloom. Three signs of hope occur to me at the moment—the excellent work of Rev. Carroll Lemon—the enlightened policy of our Lincoln newspapers—and the straightforward, unequivocal Christian attitude of Rev. Bruce Gideon.

Appeal Made For Improvement Of No. 48th From Hwy. 77 To Dump

By Del Harding
Four Lincoln residents appeared before the Lancaster County Board Tuesday to ask that the one-mile stretch of No. 48th from Cornhusker Highway north to the city dump be improved.

Appearing before the board were Bill Kite, W. Clay Robinson and Jack Kittrell, all connected with Arrow Airport, and J. B. Beck of the Izaak Walton League. Both the airport and league grounds are located north of the end of 48th.

Robinson, acting as spokesman for the group, asked that something be done to keep down the dust and repair the road's chuck holes. Kite said the public deserves a "safe, suitable" road and asked that

Industrial Zoning Is Requested 600 Acres Located Northeast Of City

The Lancaster County Board will consider May 13 a proposal that a 600-acre plot of land northeast of Lincoln be considered for designation as an industrial area.

Attorney Edwin H. Hammond, who owns the land, said having the Board so designate the land — which would prohibit it from ever being annexed by a city—is the first step in his efforts to interest an industrial firm which would benefit the community in locating there.

Hammond said he has no particular firm in mind, but a brochure listing the advantages of the site is being prepared for distribution and advertising will also be done in eastern papers describing the land. The site is located about 3 miles northeast of Lincoln on the north side of U. S. 6, is adjacent to a proposed interchange of the Interstate Highway and is crossed by the CB&Q Railroad.

Hammond said he is working closely with the Lincoln Development Corp. on the matter and said the Peterson Construction Co. is working out a development plan for the tract. He said the Midwest Research Institute checked the site for suitability for industry and approved it.

Price 'Slightly' Higher
Hammond, who said he has owned the land for about 13 years, said he plans to offer the land for sale at a price only slightly more than the price of farm land in order to encourage the use of the area by an industry.

He said work is now under way to move between 40,000 and 50,000 cubic yards of earth to provide adequate drainage in the low area. He also said about 2,000 trees are being cleared.

Hammond listed these factors which he said will make the site attractive to industry:

- The Burlington Railroad crosses the land.
- Its one-mile frontage on U.S. 6.
- Ample water supply.
- Its nearness to the proposed Interstate Highway interchange.
- Location of high tension power lines in the area.
- Easy access to a natural gas supply.

Mrs. Balster was past president of the Corps, past president of the Past President's Club, and was president of the Kensington at her death.

A past president's pin was given to Luella Lehigh by Merle Grimm, and a 25-year membership pin with two 5-year bars was presented to Kathryn Kirlin.

$50,000 To Pave
Co. Engineer Louis W. Weaver told the Board it would cost more than $50,000 to pave the road and the commissioners indicated they believed the cost would be excessive. The Board deferred action on the request pending further investigation.

Former Commissioner Chris Kuhner appeared before the Board and suggested another use for the old County Detention Home at 746 Rose. Kuhner said it could be divided into 3 apartments to be used to house Negro families as there is an apparent shortage of housing for Negroes.

Board Chairman Russell Brehm, while commenting that Kuhner's idea was a "good one," said the Board has not yet decided on 3 other proposed uses for the 12-room brick home. Being considered are using the home as a "foster home" for delinquent children in the 10-16 age bracket for whom there is a shortage of suitable foster homes, moving the County Welfare Department from its downtown quarters to the home and leasing the home to the Lancaster Assn. for Retarded Children for an expansion of their school facilities.

Decision Soon
Brehm said the Board will decide on a use for the now-vacant home within the next few weeks.

In other action, the Board gave Brehm permission to write the City Council and formally state that the Board favors the forming of a joint city-county planning commission. The Council considered the matter last week and the 2 governmental bodies are expected to hold a joint meeting on the proposal soon.

Brehm also said California investigator Harold Robinson has returned a signed claim as requested for a bill of $1,790.23 for the investigation he made of local law enforcement handling of the Charles Starkweather murder case. Half the total will be paid by the city and half by the county.

The expense breakdown Robinson submitted: 14 days work at $100 a day, $1,400;

12 days hotel bill, $117; meals, $72; phone calls, $14.44; cab fares, $12.15; transportation (to and from California), $172.79; and the purchase of the folder in which his 43-page report was contained, $1.85.

Grading Contract
The Board also approved the bid of William Kubick of Wahoo in connection with a $27,000 contract for grading 20 miles of county roads.

Kubick's bid was $1,350 a mile. George W. Ruzicka, also of Wahoo, submitted a bid of $1,290 a mile but Co. Engineer Weaver said he has had no experience with Ruzicka and advised acceptance of the Kubick bid. Weaver also said he doubted if Ruzicka had the necessary equipment for the project.

The only other bid received was that of the Midwest Earth Movers of Lincoln who offered to do the job for $1,435 a mile. The grading involved is at different locations throughout the county and is part of the 1958 county road program. The Board also decided not to evacuate the County Courthouse during the Civil Defense alert May 6-7, but employees will "duck and take cover" during the exercise. Lincoln schools last week also decided against evacuating students during the alert.

To Head NU Dames

The University of Nebraska Dames held their monthly meeting Tuesday evening following a cooking demonstration at the Gas Company.

An organization for the wives of University of Nebraska students, the group elected the following officers,

Another new officer, not pictured, is Mrs. Ron Mitsch, corresponding secretary.

Dear Abby . . .

We Don't All Agree

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Sometimes I believe YOU'VE got holes in your OWN head. You told Mrs. J. G. W. that she should nurse her husband through his second childhood while that 60-year-old boob is out chasing a 28-year-old woman. I say she should pack up her suitcase and go away for a little rest until he comes to his senses. When he finds no meals, no clean house, no clean clothes he will realize what a fool he was. ONE WHO KNOWS

DEAR ONE: I still say the wife should stick with her husband. If termites started to eat at the foundation of your house, would you go away and leave the house to the termites?

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and I have never been in any trouble. I get good grades and like sports, but my mother seems to think I should come right home after school. None of the kids go right home after school. They usually stop at the Dairy Bar and listen to the juke box and have a soft drink. I have been doing this and getting home at 5:30. Please explain to my mother that I'm not a baby anymore and I should have a little freedom.

MAMMA'S BOY
DEAR BOY: There's nothing wrong with "freedom" after school (about an hour's worth) IF your mother knows EXACTLY where you are—and your grades are good.

DEAR ABBY: We have a friend who is the dearest, sweetest man alive. He is married to a girl who is taking him for everything he owns. He thinks she is about perfect, but he doesn't know about all the taxi cabs that stop in front of his house while he is out of town. How do you go about telling a friend something that everyone knows but him?

A TRUE FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: If you are a true friend you will let him go on thinking she is about "perfect."

DEAR ABBY: We are elderly people, and once a week a group of old friends get together to play cards and have a sociable evening. One couple are constantly quarreling and bickering. They got very violent and raised their voices and made everyone of us feel very uncomfortable. Since it was in my home, I spoke up and told them to do their fighting at home in the future. My wife told me I should not have said this, although it seemed to silence them and the rest of the evening was peaceful. Was she right or was I? PEACE-MAKER

DEAR PEACEMAKER: The quarrelling couple should have been told—but it might have been more diplomatic to have told them privately.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

The Star In Suburbia

Spring house cleaning time, so we brushed off our red carpet in anticipation of the arrival of new suburban residents. Aside from our newcomers news, the younger set seems to figure prominently in our run down of the week's activities.

COUNTRY CLUB MANOR

A birthday celebrant on Tuesday was Larry Beck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Beck Jr., and in honor of his fifth anniversary the young man was host to friends on an excursion through the Antelope Park Zoo followed by a party at the Beck home.

Present for the afternoon were Ricky Knapp, Doug Deeter, Susan and Sally Shackleford, and Larry's brother, Ronnie.

COUNTRY CLUB TERRACE

Soon-to-be residents of our suburb are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jennings and their daughters, Vicki and Jan. The Jennings family plans to move into their home at 2320 Stockwell early in May.

Also on our list of newcomers are Mr. and Mrs. Merle O. Brestel who settled in their new home at 4119 Dunn the last of March.

The young members of the Brestel family include four-year-old Bradley, three-year-old Brenda, and Bethy who is nine-months-old.

will be celebrating her ninth birthday at a party at her home.

Barring the appearance of the afore mentioned conditions Susan's guests will include Debbie Magee, Jody Beck, Sherill Kushner, Pamela Pivnick, Mary Ann Allard, Nancy Knapp, Marsha Finkel, Kathy Kelly, Diane Dudley and Judy Boyd.

The members of Brownie troop 116 visited the Nebraska State Historical Society on Tuesday, April 8. During their tour the young ladies who were accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Gieker, Mrs. Bob Dudley and Mrs. George Bess, attended a puppet show depicting life in early Nebraska.

On Friday evening the troop members together with nine other Brownie and Girl Scout groups from Merle Beattie, Capitol and Cathedral Schools, entertained their fathers at a box supper held at Merle Beattie school.

The evening's program had an international theme, and special guests included American Field Service students, Margaret Morrison of England, Salvig Klasstad of Norway, and Yukkido Masuda of Japan.

—and arriving on May 2 will be Mrs. Robert Brittin of Lansing, Mich., formerly of Lincoln, who is to be the house guest of her sister, Mrs. Harry P. Letton.

Mrs. Brittin will remain in Lincoln until after the wedding of her daughter, Miss Barbara Brittin, and Lt. Wyndell Franklin Fordham which will take place on May 31.

Mr. Brittin plans to come to Lincoln a week before his daughter's wedding.

—from Boulder, Colo., comes news of the arrival of Miss Deborah Lee Junge on Monday, April 14. The young Miss Junge is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Junge, and her mother is the former Joyce Webster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dillo Webster of Grand Island. And just in case you haven't already guessed, the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Junge.

Seward Clubs Win NFWC Top Awards

The Senior Woman's Club and the Junior Woman's Club of Seward won sweepstakes awards and $300 in the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs annual Community Achievement contest, it was announced Tuesday evening at the convention banquet held at Scottsbluff.

The clubs also won first place in Group B (clubs with more than 75 members) for its community project of providing Seward and its Memorial Hospital with a "Walking Blood Bank" of volunteer donors.

Beginning last November, the club members surveyed the town and surrounding area for those willing, and able, to be volunteer donors; arranged appointments with hospital technicians; aided in the typing of more than 400 volunteers; and were responsible for all clerical work involved.

The project was begun as the result of an emergency case last fall when the hospital had to broadcast pleas for blood type O negative. One of the donors, a Woman's Club member, became concerned over the emergency, and with the enthusiasm and determination of the club members, the Walking Blood Bank became a reality.

The Omaha Woman's Club was awarded second place in class B, and winners in class A (clubs up to 75 members) were Schuyler, first place, and Arapahoe, second.

Also a highlight Tuesday evening at the federation's annual awards banquet was the presentation of the Pioneer Woman of the Year by Mrs. C. H. Ade, state historian. Chosen for the honor was Miss Annie Kramph of North Platte, an outstanding leader of the community, charter member of the Twentieth Century Woman's Club, and originator of the community drive in the early years of the century which resulted in North Platte's city library.

Receiving honorable mention were Mrs. Oscar Warp, Minden; Dr. Claire H. Owens, Exeter; Mrs. Arthur Weeth, Gretna; Mrs. George Hedges, Weeping Water; and Mrs. A. R. McMullen, Stella.

Mrs. E. Pearl Smith of the North Platte Woman's Club was awarded first place in the state Flowers in Art Form contest, with Mrs. William I. Israel North Platte Junior Club, winning first place in junior clubs division.

Awards in literature, announced by Mrs. Ralph Misko of York, included: poetry, Mrs. Haver Bruner of Broadwater, first place;

May Lopman Luce, South Sioux City, second, and Mrs. Ethel A. Gasten, Kearney, third; essays, Mrs. Chris Hoffmeister, Champion, first; Mrs. Luce, second, and Mrs. Bruner, third; and stories, Mrs. Hoffmeister, first, Mrs. Allen Whitney, Bellwood, second, and Mrs. Luce, third.

The convention will close Wednesday afternoon with election and installation of new officers.

AEC Says 7 More A-Blasts Set Off Than Had Been Listed

Washington (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission disclosed it set off 7 more nuclear blasts in the last 4 years than had been announced previously.

Three of the newly announced shots occurred in the Eniwetok area in the spring of 1954 and four in the same Pacific test site in 1956.

The commission declined to say whether the explosions were of hydrogen or atomic devices, but it is known there were H-blasts in both years.

The information came to light in an announcement through the National Academy of Sciences pinpointing the time, place and method of 15 nuclear explosions between March 1, 1954, and Aug. 31, 1957. Secrecy wraps were lifted from the data at the urging of scientists, to increase their knowledge of the earth's makeup and the path and speed of shock waves.

Without Data

Eight of the 15 blasts had been announced before but without the precise data now released, such as time down to a tenth of a second. Disclosure of the other 7—in the interest of scientific research—follows Russia's declaration against all nuclear explosions.

An AEC spokesman refused to say whether the tests reported complete the record on Operations Castle and Redwing in the Pacific, or whether there were other blasts still unannounced.

The academy's earth sciences division, which encouraged release of the information, distributed the available list to seismologists.

Dr. William Thurston, executive secretary of the division, said seismologists may now work from exact data rather than from assumptions in studying the effect of the explosions.

Geologists and geophysicists may put the information to use in developing facts about the earth's core and subsurface layers.

Spot Located

In addition to giving the precise clock times, the fact sheet locates the spot of each of the 15 tests down to degrees, minutes and seconds. It also describes the type of shot, whether ground, sea or air.

Five of the blasts had been reported earlier from the Nevada test site last summer, including an underground explosion Sept. 19.

On previously announced tests in the 1954 Operation Castle at Eniwetok, AFC described a March 1, 1954, explosion as a ground shot; one March 27, 1954, as from a barge, and one on April 27, 1954, as another ground shot.

Newly reported tests in that series occurred on April 26, May 5 and May 14, 1954. All were barge shots.

Four explosions in the 1956 Operation Redwing at Eniwetok were announced for the first time. These took place May 28, July 9, July 11 and July 21. The first was a ground shot, the other 3 barge.

C&NW Requests Speedup On Appeal Hearing

The Chicago and North Western Railway has asked the State Supreme Court to schedule oral argument at the earliest possible date on its appeal from a recent State Railway Commission decision refusing to allow the railway to discontinue passenger trains 13 and 14 between Omaha and Chadron.

The railroad based its request on grounds that it is losing money every day the appeal is pending and the trains remain in operation.

The railroad's appeal brief was filed Apr. 3 and the Railway Commission has one month thereafter in which to file its brief. The railroad's motion to advance the case will be heard May 5.

In its request, the railroad says out-of-pocket losses on the trains amount to $227,824 annually, or $625 each day the appeal is pending.

New Social Studies Guide Gets Review

The new elementary social studies guide of the Nebraska Department of Education provides many suggestions for teachers to bring out the best, scholastically and morally, in our young people, according to George E. Rotter, curriculum co-ordinator for the department.

Reviewing the new guide before the Nebraska Association of Supervision and Curriculum Development in Omaha, Rotter said it is important that pupils in elementary grades gain a solid body of knowledge concerning geography, history and government.

"In the process of gaining this knowledge however," he continued, "we want our children to learn how to use their minds, how to study, how to tackle problems, and how to work effectively with other children."

Developing wholesome character, Rotter stated, is a basic aim of the social studies, adding that the new guide "draws the attention of teachers toward both the intellectual and moral development of children."

Printed copies of the new guide will be available the latter part of June or July, he said.

60 Persons Hurt In Florida Storms

... Fort Pierce Twister Worst

Fort Pierce, Fla. (AP)—The Red Cross said at least 54 homes were demolished Tuesday in a tornado that cut a swath through this Florida east coast resort community.

The Fort Pierce twister was one of at least 4 that pummeled Florida communities Tuesday, damaging homes, felling power lines and injuring more than 60 persons.

By far the worst impact was at Fort Pierce in St. Lucie County, 58 miles north of West Palm Beach.

St. Lucie chapter of the Red Cross said 26 persons were hospitalized and 16 were admitted with more or less serious injuries. Additional persons were treated at doctor's offices.

Other reports said 5 of the injured were in critical condition. Most of the injured were in houses in the path of the twister which belted the town for a period not exceeding 10 minutes.

Bob Dubrod of Atlanta, Ga., a Red Cross field representative who toured the stricken area, said:

"I've seen disasters since 1930 and never saw a group of houses so badly flattened in one place."

Public safety workers ranged into the rural areas west of Fort Pierce to check the extent of damage there and aid any persons who might have been injured.

Fallen trees and utility poles impeded vehicles heading inland.

A man and a boy were injured at Pine Island, near Fort Myers, on the southwest Florida coast, where winds reached 49 miles an hour and electricity was cut off to the south end of Fort Myers Beach. Schools in Lee (Fort Myers) County were closed and 7,000 pupils enjoyed a holiday. Schools also were dismissed in Charlotte and Hendry Counties.

Deputy Sheriff Ted Smith reported a waterspout at the mouth of the Caloosahatchee River at Fort Myers.

Jack Alston of Louisville, Ky., was employed several months on an interim basis, Brogren said.

Legal Magazine Praises Simmons' International Work

Chief Justice Robert G. Simmons of Nebraska and his endeavors in the international exchange of legal tools and information received praise in the Journal of the American Judicature Society.

Judge Simmons is commended by the publication particularly for his efforts in the program of legal book presentations to foreign nations, called "perhaps the most effective" activity of the U.S. Information Agency in this field.

Judge Simmons, in 3 separate trips to 16 nations in the Far East, Middle East and Africa, has carried America's message in the legal field to foreign jurists and attorneys.

He has arranged for the gift of some 18,000 volumes donated by American lawyers and legal groups.

Judge Simmons is also chairman of the legal group in the People to People program, having received his appointment from President Eisenhower. As chairman, he is in contact with various legal groups to "encourage them to make contacts with foreign friends and establish good will," the chief justice told The Star.

The Judicature Society publication quotes Judge Simmons: "Making these tools of our profession available overseas makes friends for the United States in a measure, I sincerely believe, impossible by any other means. A book is something one keeps."

"It is always there to remind the lawyer, judge and student of America's interest in him and America's personal friendship for him. He may study, adopt or reject the rules. The point is that they are made available to him."

Justice Simmons, 66, former congressman (1923-33) and chief justice since 1933, made his first trip on behalf of the U.S. State Department in 1952.

He visited the Philippines, Indonesia, Burma, Formosa, Thailand and Japan on a mission to acquaint those nations with the judicial processes in this country.

In 1953, the jurist traveled to Pakistan, India and Ceylon after a visit to England. In 1956, Judge Simmons journeyed to Iraq, Egypt, Jordan, the Sudan, Nigeria, Libya and Ghana (then the Gold Coast) to carry America's spirit of co-operative venture on a basis of equality.

The chief justice also serves on a special committee on co-operation with legal professions of friendly foreign nations and has hosted numerous foreign legal dignitaries in Lincoln.

Blaze Threatens Museum Of Modern Art ...

Treasure Hoard Imperiled By Fire

... One N.Y. Workman Loses Life

New York (AP)—A spectacular lunch hour fire Tuesday imperiled a fabulous treasure hoard at the Museum of Modern Art in the fashionable heart of Manhattan.

Four million dollars worth of art was saved. Only 6 paintings—valued at 1½ million dollars—were damaged and all but one of them was believed restorable.

Firemen wielded axes and directed hoses with amazing care and precision, lest their life-saving efforts at the same time destroy irreplaceable objects. Women museum employees, their clothes wringing wet from the hoses, risked their lives to carry pictures to safety.

Workman Is Dead

One workman died in the fire. Three women visitors were treated for smoke poisoning. More than a score of firemen were injured or overcame.

The blaze was confined to a small area of the museum's second floor gallery, where air conditioning work was under way. It was under control in less than an hour. But thick, overpowering smoke clogged the main building and an adjoining annex on West 53rd St. More than 500 persons fled the smoke. For a time, a num-

"There is no substitute for experience."

'Are you familiar with the provisions of your husband's Will and the reasons for them? Do you know the amount and kind of property owned by each of you or in "joint names"? How much life insurance is carried and how are the proceeds payable? Are these arrangements well suited to your needs?

Such questions illustrate why Estate Planning is most likely to succeed when both husband and wife take part.

Mutual understanding and confidence are seldom so important as in the property arrangements to take care of one partner after the other's death. Overlooking this fact has caused many husbands to adopt unsuitable estate plans much different from those that would have resulted from full discussion. Wives have been caused to resent estate plans that were excellent but which were not explained and discussed in advance.

Timely planning is vital, too. For example, after the death of one spouse it may be too late for the maximum estate tax savings through correct use of the Marital Deduction.

A good estate plan must reflect the needs of the particular family, the nature and extent of assets, how the property is owned, and the investment, tax and management problems involved. Your own lawyer should be consulted concerning all legal matters and should draw the Wills and other necessary documents. We suggest you talk with us about the financial, business and operating aspects. Here are some of the important points:

1. Are there liquid assets sufficient to meet taxes and other estate expenses?
2. What steps can be taken to protect you and your family from inflation?
3. What should be provided regarding the sale, or retention and management, of interests in a going business or closely-held corporation?
4. What is the best way to take advantage of the "Marital Deduction"?
5. Do you know the grave disadvantages of putting property in joint names?
6. Do you know how trusts properly used can add to family security and reduce shrinkage from death taxes and administration expenses?
7. Has your husband enough life insurance? Is it well arranged to meet cash needs of the estate, without unnecessary tax exposure?

You are invited to discuss your affairs with our trust officers. The best estate plan for your family will make use of your lawyer's guidance and of our long experience in trust investment and in managing estates and trusts. You will fully understand its advantages because both you and your husband will have taken part in the planning.

Consult Your Lawyer

Your own lawyer should advise you on all legal problems pertaining to your estate plan.

Doubled Strength Needed ...NATO Claims

Paris (AP)—NATO's top military planners said Tuesday the West must double the number of allied troops on the European continent as soon as possible for effective defense, even with the aid of nuclear firepower.

Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme allied commander in Europe, gave the defense ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization that outline in opening a 3-day NATO conference. He said the alliance still needs 30 well-armed, highly trained divisions to face Russia's superiority in conventional armament and manpower.

Norstad said he now has only half that number of troops under his command. The 30 division goal was set up by NATO years ago.

Norstad also said the allies must speed up their training in the use of tactical atomic weapons so that, if necessary, NATO troops can employ them in local brush-fire conflicts.

His appeal runs against a trend in many NATO countries for a cutback in defense expenditures and it may encounter trouble in some capitals.

The plan has already won approval of NATO's standing group and chiefs of staff. It is generally believed the defense ministers also will approve it at the present conference. But each defense minister must sell his own government on the extra costs involved.

Twins Honored At Age 81

Herpolsheimer Twins Greet 81st Birthday With Gusto

By Walt Switzer

What is it like to greet your 81st birthday. Alfred and Albert Herpolsheimer, identical twins born in Lincoln on April 20, 1877, don't mind it at all.

The twins were guests of the Trinity Lutheran Church's Lutheran Layman's League at a pre-birthday party Tuesday evening. The League presented the brothers with a cake in appreciation of the years of service they have devoted to the church.

Father Owned Store

Henry Herpolsheimer, father of the twins and owner of the former Herpolsheimer's Department Store, was a charter member of the Trinity Lutheran Church.

Alfred and Albert and their 2 sisters were the first students to attend the Lutheran School here. Alfred said that the school was held in the ministers' house and "we didn't learn too much."

Pointing out how the Lutheran School has improved since that beginning he said,

"When we were 14 we took the placement examination at Everett Junior High School and were placed in the 5th grade."

We'll Walk, Thanks

Still healthy and alert the brothers turned down the offer of a ride from their home to the church 8 blocks away saying, "When we were young we used to walk from our home on 40th to the store at 11th and N and back (about 6 miles) so a few blocks now won't hurt us any."

When asked if they had ever been married, Albert and Alfred both replied "no"; but hastily added, "We still may marry, we have plenty of time for that."

Alfred, still active in his trade, has been a piano tuner most of his life. He worked in Chicago, Colorado Springs and New York besides Lincoln.

Albert, an active stay-at-home, has spent his entire life in Lincoln. He was associated with his father in their store for many years.

Towns Must Be Content With '50 Population Signs

Note to Nebraska's cities and villages: don't expect the State Department of Roads from now on to revise those population figures on highway signs at the edge of town, just because your community has grown since the last official census was taken.

State Engineer L. N. Ress announced that henceforth, the department will use only official census figures—obtained every 10 years—on those state-provided and state-maintained signs.

If any community decides that the last official figure is so obsolete as to be objectionable, the department will eliminate the figure altogether and substitute the words, "City Limits," he said.

Ress said everyone hopes and anticipates that Nebraska's cities and villages will continue to grow. But "continual revision of population signs appears to become a possible burden and steps must be taken to eliminate that possibility," he said.

The last official census was taken in 1950.

4 Revised

In 4 cities—Omaha, Lincoln, Sidney and Kimball—the Department of Roads has revised upward the population figures on highway signs. (Lincoln's revised sign, erected last July, shows a 128,000 population figure.)

To make these revisions, the department in the past has demanded substantiating information such as building permits issued, increases in telephone listings, increases in water and light meter installations.

In the case of Omaha, Lincoln, Sidney and Kimball, the new population figures are not official but "merely indicate the estimated population of these communities," Ress said.

In announcing the new policy, Ress said:

"The department certainly should not be expected to provide current population figures and entail the necessary expense of collecting and tabulating the information, removing, repainting and re-installing the signs merely to satisfy the demands of some individuals to indicate the growth of their community."

DODGERS' PEEWEE REESE GIVES IT THAT OLD COLLEGE TRY BUT MISSES LINER

Gomez Gives Frisco 8-0 Opening Victory

San Francisco (AP)—Ruben Gomez brought joy to San Francisco and deep despair to Los Angeles Tuesday by pitching the Giants' first victory in their new home 8-0 before a sellout crowd of 23,448.

Rookie Orlando Cepeda, a fellow countryman of Gomez from Puerto Rico, and Daryl Spencer clubbed home runs in the 11-hit attack on Don Drysdale and two successors.

It was a glorious sun-baked afternoon for this first major league baseball game ever played on the Pacific Coast, and the transplanted Giants put on a sparkling show.

Gomez, a temperamental 30-year-old with a singing fast pitch and a puzzling screwball, held the Dodgers to six singles. After escaping early disaster because of his own wildness, Gomez chipped in with two singles, drove in one run and scored another.

Jim Davenport, the Giants rookie third baseman, sparked in the field and contributed a pair of singles. His performance was a solid recommendation for the Giants' new youth movement.

The Dodgers with their ace Drysdale, never were in it after the Giants crashed home two runs in the third inning and knocked out the Los Angeles starter in a four-run fourth inning.

In the third, Danny O'Connell and Valmy Thomas walked and Gomez beat out an infield single to load the bases. Davenport sliced a fly ball that Carl Furillo grabbed and O'Connell scored the first run after the catch. Jim King singled to right, scoring Thomas.

Spencer rode a Drysdale pitch into the new bleacher seats in left field with one out and none on in the fourth inning. It was the first homer in this new frontier of the majors. The ball cleared an eight-foot fence above the 364-foot mark.

Drysdale had two out when Thomas walked, took second and scored on Gomez' single to center. After Davenport also singled, Dodger Manager Walter Alston replaced the sidearm right-hander with Don Bessent.

King kept it going by working Bessent for a walk and Willie Mays came through with a single to center, driving in both Gomez and Davenport.

Willie tried to streak into second but was cut down.

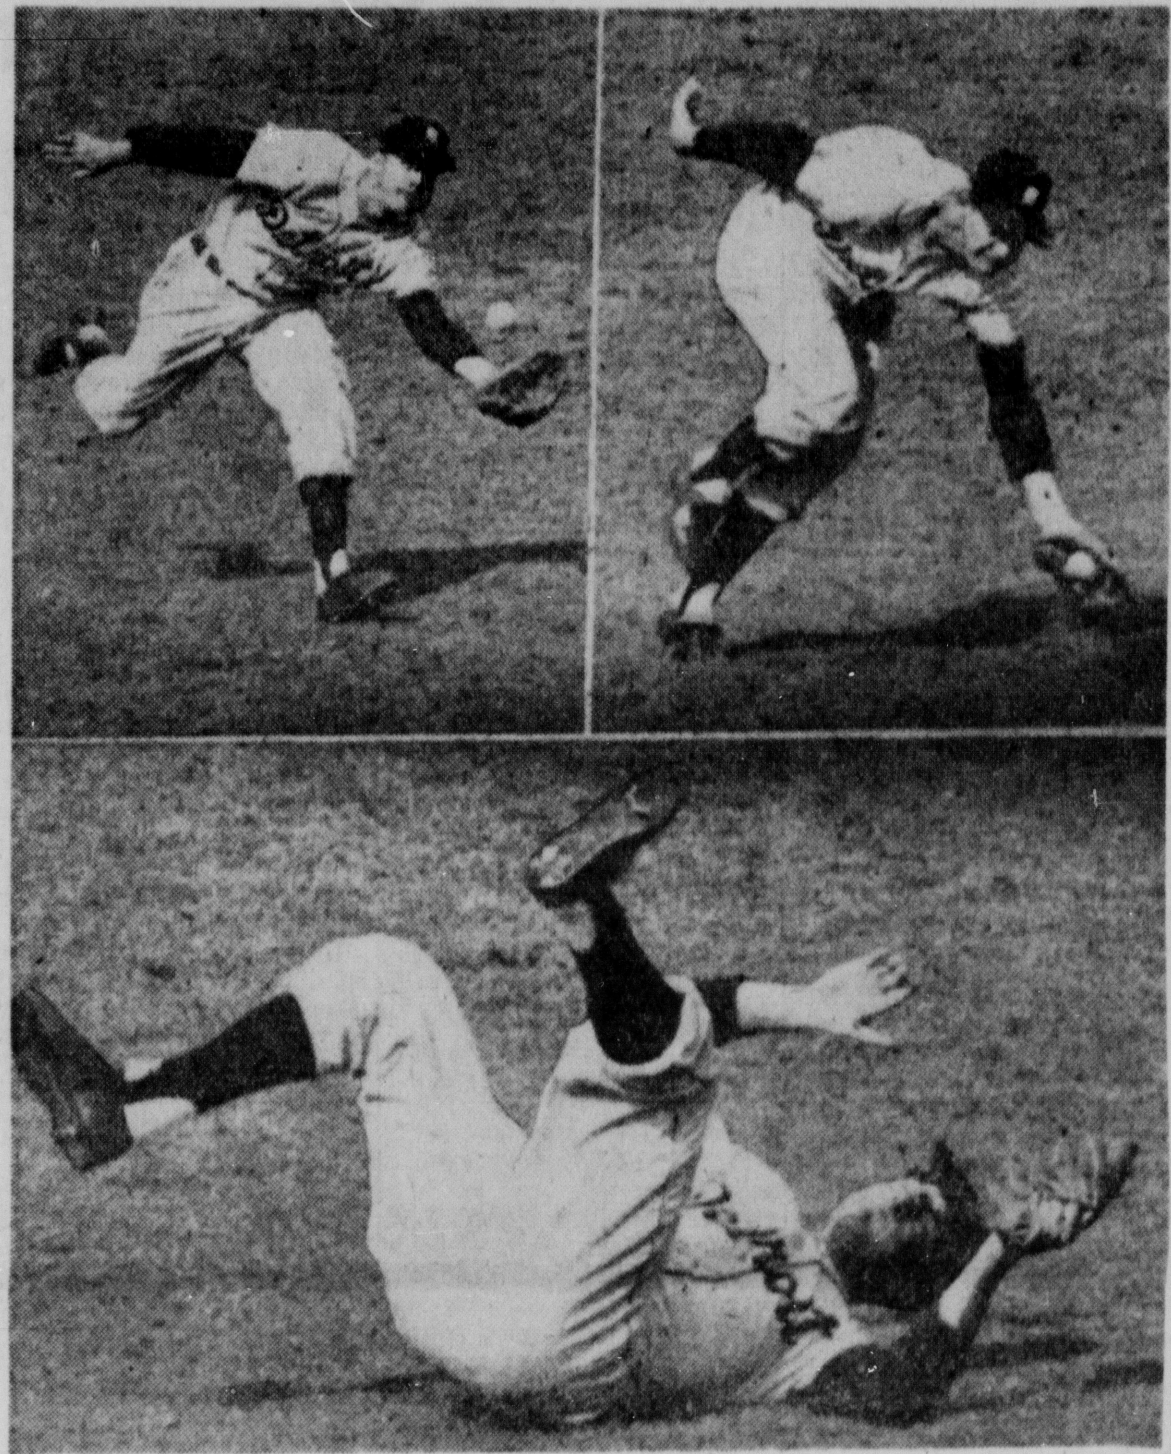

Cepeda, son of a former Puerto Rican batting champion, lived up to some of his glowing advance notices with his homer in the fifth inning.

In the eighth after Ron Negray, the third Dodger pitcher, had taken up the burden, a walk to King and singles by Mays and Willie Kirkland produced the eighth run.

The Dodgers had their chances early and failed. Charlie Neal and Dick Gray singled off Gomez with nobody out in

Kubacki's NU Career Is Ended

By Ron Speer

The fabulous athletic career of adopted Cornhusker Jimmie Kubacki came to an end Tuesday afternoon.

The little Ohioan re-injured a knee working out with the baseball team and Coach Tony Sharpe announced that he is through for the season.

Kubacki, better known for his basketball ability, was the No. 1 third baseman for the diamond team. However, his knee kept him out of the Huskers first six games and he saw action only in the three NU-Missouri games over the weekend.

During the Missouri series the 5-10 towhead played third base and pitched two innings. He struck out the side in his first appearance of the year on the mound.

Kubacki, will be long-remembered for his basketball performance in Nebraska's upset win over Kansas and Wilt Chamberlain.

His leg was giving him trouble that night, too, and he had to shed his street clothes, and hurry into his suit in order to get into the game in time to fire a last-second, twisting jump shot which defeated the Jayhawks 43-41.

Jimmie, soft-spoken native, said Tuesday night "I have no regrets about coming to Nebraska. It's a wonderful school and I've enjoyed every

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant
Sports Editor, The Star

Jacksonville Beach, Fla.—There isn't too much to do around here during a rainstorm, so entertainment is supplied by chatting with managers, players and officials of the Pittsburgh camp.

And it didn't take long to find out that Vern Piver, who Tuesday was tabbed as one of Lincoln's catchers, is one of the most popular players in camp.

"Piver is the kind of guy any manager wants on his team," Skipper Monty Basgall remarked. "He's giving you 100 per cent every minute and he'll play anywhere—and have a lot of fun doing it."

General Manager Dick Wagner's eyes lit up like a Christmas tree when he overheard Branch Rickey Jr., and a couple of managers opine that Piver will be popular with the fans.

Several people wanted to bet that Piver would win the most popular player award. That's a pretty solid recommendation before the season starts.

Right now, I'm inclined to agree with the pro-Pivers. He has all the earmarks of being a tremendous hit at Sherman Field.

Vern is unimpressive in a uniform—comically sloppy, in fact. And he's always got the wisecrack and the dig for someone within earshot.

During an intra-squad game the other afternoon, Piver was batting against a youngster who was bidding for a spot on the Lincoln team. It was the first inning and the pitcher was full of steam.

The kid reared back and fogged a strike over the plate and followed with a fast curve that Piver swung at and missed.

Piver turned to Basgall, who was standing back of the screen, and growled: "Where the hell did this guy come from, Monty?"

A second later, the kid put a fast ball by Piver for a called third strike. That was too much for the Lincoln catcher. He gave the bat a short flip, scratched his head and then turned to Basgall:

"Hey, Monty. Get that guy out of here right now—or you aren't going to have any of us good hitters to take to Lincoln."

That seemed to break the spell woven by the young phenom. From that point on, he got treated pretty rough. And Piver did some of the roughing.

Piver will probably share the catching with the second backstop Basgall selects and he's been given the greenlight to play either in the infield or the outfield when he's not behind the plate.

In camp games, he's played flawlessly at third and second and he's shown a good outfield arm. So Vern Piver will be a valuable man to have at Sherman Field this summer.

Not to mention the fact that he's more fun than a three-ring circus.

No-Hitter For NE's Jan Wall

Jan Wall stopped Boys Town cold with a no-hitter and helped supply the offensive punch as Lincoln Northeast took a 4-0 victory in its 1958 baseball opener Tuesday.

Wall, who almost single-handedly directed the Rockets to the state championship last year, fanned 16 and missed a perfect game by only two batters in blanking the Cowboys.

Wall walked none, but hit one batter and another Cowboy reached base on a Northeast error.

The Rockets came up with four runs—their entire total—in the bottom of the sixth to make coach Barry Moore's debut a successful one.

Northeast used a pinch double by Bill Janike, a single by Wall, two Boys Town errors, a wild pitch and a base on balls to notch their winning runs.

LeRoy Butherus, who lettered as an end on the 1955 Nebraska football team and had indicated he would be a candidate for the 1958 team, has been dropped from the Huskers' spring roster.

"Butherus was not out for practice Monday," Head Coach Bill Jennings said Tuesday. "So he no longer is considered a member of the squad."

Jennings also said that Richard Rudzik, who missed Monday's workout, also is off the squad. Rudzik, who was considered one of the most promising freshman linemen, reportedly left school Monday.

The Huskers had a day off Tuesday, as no workouts are slated that day of the week because "so many of the boys have labs," Jennings said.

Today the gridgers probably will stress individual drill, with a picture-taking session also slated.

Yanks' Kubek Denies He's Entering Army

New York (AP)—Tony Kubek, the New York Yankees' brilliant young shortstop branded "false" reports that he was about to enter the Army.

"It's absolutely untrue," he said. "It's simply a rumor that started back in Milwaukee. I can't understand what that major is talking about."

Kubek was referring to an announcement earlier in the day by Maj. Gerald Mulrine, commander of the South Side Army Reserve Training Center, that he would leave Milwaukee May 24 to begin active duty.

"I haven't heard anything at all to the effect that I am to report to the Army," continued Kubek, who was left here for treatment of a pulled muscle when the Yankees played the opening game of the season at Boston Tuesday.

Kubek's current boss, Yankee General Manager George Weiss, who would be expected to be among the first to be informed, was flabbergasted at the news.

the second. Ruben then made Furillo ground out and struck out both Rube Walker (Roy Campanella's successor) and Drysdale on 3-2 pitches.

Campanella, who was partially paralyzed in a Glen Cove, N.Y. hospital, sent his old mates a telegram of encouragement.

It was read by Manager Alston at a pre-game meeting.

Chuck Essegian and Roman Semproch sparked the Philadelphia Phils to a 5-4 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs Tuesday in a game which Manager Birdie Tebbetts of Cincinnati protested, then withdrew the protest and then filed it again.

Tebbetts announced he was playing the game under protest in the seventh inning on the grounds that a run-scoring double by Granny Hamner had been touched by a fan and Richie Ashburn, who had scored, should have stopped at third.

Then after the game he said he was withdrawing the protest because it seemed to be a matter of the umpire's judgment as to whether the action by the fan, if any, impeded the play.

Two hours later, he said the protest was being re-instituted.

County-By-County Reports Show Fishing On Upswing

Fishing in Nebraska, given a considerable boost by favorable weather of late, has improved from slow to very good and even excellent in some cases, according to county-by-county reports received by the Game Commission.

sion from the state's 29 conservation officers.

Hotspots were many, with Medicine Creek Reservoir possibly holding an edge. Officer Herman Schmidt described fishing there as just a little short of terrific for black bass, walleyes, and crappie.

"From all aspects," he reports, "1958 will top last year's tremendous success. Crappie and bass are running bigger than a year ago. Fingerling walleye stocked 10 months ago are running up to 11 inches. And the reservoir is full of water and a beautiful sight to behold."

The big impoundment produced a lunker 9-pound walleye for Archie Campbell of Cambridge. Other prize catches at Medicine Creek Reservoir included 5½-pound bass by Dave Myers, McCook; 4½-pound bass by Marlin Snyder, Lincoln; 44 crappie, 9 to 12 inches, by Dale and Larry Seligman, McCook; and 42 crappie by Fred Janish and Reverend Adrian Edgar.

Officer Loron Bunney reports very good success on trout in Ogallala Lake. He estimated 200 anglers at the lake Sunday, with about one-third of them taking bag limits. Two arrests were made for over-the-bag hauls.

Excellent fishing was described by the officers for trout in Elm Creek, perch in Lake Minatare, and trout in White River, Big Bordeaux, Little Bordeaux, and Chadron Creeks. Angling was good for trout in Fremont Lakes Nos. 1 and 5, McCook Pits, Grove Lake, and Niobrara River, and good for catfish, bullheads, and carp in the Blue River.

Bait-wise, fishermen were having a field day, particularly with worms on trout, bullheads, carp, perch, catfish, and drum. Other producers were beef melt and salmon eggs for trout; minnows for crappie bass, perch, and catfish; plugs for bass; and liver for catfish.

The county-by-county reports:

DUNDY, CHASE, HAYES, HITCHCOCK COUNTIES (H. Lee Bowers): Rock Creek Lake, fair to good for trout; Swanson's Lake, fair for crappie, bullheads.

VALLEY, McPHERSON, LOGAN, ARTHUR, GARFIELD, LOUP, NORTH HALF CUSTER COUNTIES (W. J. Abern): Pits in Taylor vicinity fair for carp, red horse, and sunfish.

Fair Weather Encouraging Farm Activity

Getting 1958 oats and barley crops planted in Nebraska still is an uphill battle, government crop observers indicated Tuesday.

By last weekend, not quite 15% of the oats and only 10% of the barley acreage had been seeded, according to the weekly crop report of the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

Nebraska News

Normally about 70% of these crops are planted by the second week of April.

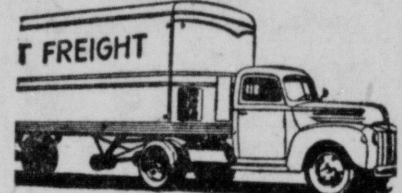

Planting is fairly well advanced in extreme southeastern counties and along the Missouri River northward to Thurston County, the crop report said. Other counties bordering this area started seedbed preparation and seeding on a limited scale.

Altogether, the east and southeast districts had a little more than a fourth of their seeding finished, and the northeast was 15% along.

Shifting Plans
Fair weather this week will encourage a "burst of activity" in all but some soggy sections of southcentral counties, the report said. Nevertheless, the delay is causing some changes in cropping plans, shifting acreage intended for oats and barley to corn, sorghums and soybeans.

Precipitation during the week ending Monday included:

Moon Enters Plea Of Innocent To Motor Homicide

Norfolk, Neb. (AP) — Dale Moon, 24, of Norfolk pleaded innocent before Justice of the Peace Werner Muller Tuesday to a charge of motor vehicle homicide filed in connection with a fatal automobile accident in which 2 girls died.

Bond was set at $1,000 and preliminary hearing set for Apr. 22.

Madison County Attorney Vincent Kirby filed the charge after a coroner's jury held that Moon was operating his car in an unlawful manner when it collided with the car in which the 2 girls were riding.

Killed in the crash were Karen, 13, and Randy Brokaw, 15-months-old, both of Norfolk.

'Beatrice Will Save $79,000 Via NRPPD'

Beatrice, Neb. (AP) — Dr. Herschel Jones of H. Zinder and Associates testified at length in District Court Tuesday in support of Norris Rural Public Power Districts estimates of the cost of power to Beatrice under a contract that went into effect Tuesday.

Jones contended that by this contract Beatrice will save some $79,000 over a 5-year period that it would have had to spend had it accepted an offer by Consumers Public Power District. R. W. Beck, consulting engineer for Consumers, contended that a Consumers contract would save Beatrice about $51,000 over a Norris contract during the same period.

Consumers seek to have the Norris-Beatrice power contract declared void.

Jones said the largest single factor in the difference was Beck's failure to compute a credit to Norris from transmission losses, which he said would have made a difference of about $70,000 in Beck's computations.

Jones backed the statements of Lester Trussell, manager of Norris, to the City Council a year ago, to the effect that the various escalation clauses in the Norris contract could be ignored because the trend of power costs is down rather than up.

He added that even if the cost of Nebraska Public Power System power goes up, there is a possibility that NRPPD would get enough cheap power from the Bureau of Reclamation to keep the overall power cost down and give the city an advantage of about $53,000 over the offer of Consumers.

Near 600 Girls Attend NU Ag Hospitality Day

A warm spring day and "spring-time" smiles of college coeds greeted around 600 girls from 58 Nebraska high schools when they arrived on the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture campus Tuesday morning.

Car and bus loads of prospective college students were on the campus for Hospitality Day. They were whisked around the campus to inspect all phases of home economics and college living.

They met college coeds who are majoring in home economics. They met professional home economists and talked about careers such as interior decorating, teaching, hospital dietitian work, fashion coordinating, producing television and radio shows for women.

An outdoor barbecue lunch with entertainment by college students, both the boys and girls, highlighted the day.

English Teachers To Hear Shapiro

Omaha (AP) — The University of Nebraska poet and lecturer, Karl Shapiro, will be the main speaker at a luncheon Apr. 26 during the annual spring convention of the Nebraska Council of Teachers of English.

The convention will be held on the Creighton University campus.

Dr. Frank S. Hewitt of Hastings College and Gunnar Horn of Omaha's Benson High School will report on the council's national convention.

Miss Irene Moerer, chairman of the English department at Grand Island High School, will speak on teacher exchange and foundation grants.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Red-letter moment in baby's life: when he takes a stab at making a spoon behave.

Sure, it's messy, but self-feeding can be made easier for baby, less of a mess for you, if you take these simple measures: (1) Spread newspapers under baby's high chair to catch flying droplets. (2) Use a paper toweling as a place mat under baby's dish to prevent spillage and catch overflow. (3) Use a bowl that's shallow enough to dip into easily, yet deep enough to keep the food from sliding out.

Self-feeders favor foods with lots of flavor interest and a more "grown up" texture. That's probably why Gerber Junior Soups and Dinners are so popular with high chair heroes and heroines. They're especially tasty (and nourishing) because they combine 3 important food groups: vegetables, meat and cereal...seasoned to suit the more educated taste buds of toddlers. Then, too, the texture is evenly minced to encourage chewing and pave the way for the eventual acceptance of coarser-textured foods. 9 tempting choices.

"Treasure chest" for a toddler. Kitchen cupboards are fascinating to the toddler, so if you have one that's close to the floor, why not assign it to your busybody. Stock it with a few pots, pans and safe utensils that baby can pull out, inspect and put back. Easiest way in the world to keep baby safely and happily occupied.

Small-fry fixin's. You can always make a hit with your honeybun when you serve Gerber Junior Fruits. Plump, choice fruits, sweetened by the kiss of the sun, are ever so carefully processed to preserve natural "come-hither" colors and true-to-nature flavors. Add to this an evenly minced texture that's just right for tots with teeth...and you've the makings for mighty lip-smacking eating. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

Senate Sets 3 1/2% Interest Rate On Federal Public Works

Washington (AP) — The Senate voted 41-40 Tuesday to set a 3 1/2% interest rate on proposed federal loans to finance municipal public works.

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), chief sponsor of the billion dollar loan proposal, sought to make the interest rate 3% but lost.

It was a case of Republicans voting for 3 1/2% and Democrats for 3% with these exceptions: Sens. Byrd (D-Va.) and Robertson (D-Va.) voted with the Republicans and Sens. Smith (R-Maine) and Langer (R-ND) voted with the Democrats.

Republicans maneuvered also to cut in half the billion dollar loan authorization, but just when a vote would come on this was not definite.

Delay Forced

Republicans forced a delay in action on the bill just before the Easter recess, despite Democratic efforts to push it as an anti-recession maneuver.

However, GOP leader Knowland (R-Calif.) said Tuesday after a meeting of the Senate Republican Policy Committee he believed the measure could be made acceptable to the administration by changes.

He said these would include amendments to cut the loan fund to 500 million dollars and to make the 3 1/2% interest rate available only to cities which cannot obtain a reasonably comparable rate from private lenders.

Fulbright opened the debate on his 3% amendments with the arguments that Republicans had gone along with a lower than 3% rate on many types of foreign aid loans.

Countries Listed

He cited a long list of countries which have obtained loans from the U.S. at lower than a 3% rate under the mutual security program or for purchase of surplus property.

Among these were Belgium with 2%, France with 2 1/2%, and the Netherlands with 2%.

Sen. Javits (R-NY) offered an amendment to add civil defense facilities to the list of projects for which the cities could borrow money, and Fulbright said he would accept it. The amendment was adopted by voice vote.

An amendment forbidding the payment of less than the prevailing wage rate "in the immediate locality" on projects financed by the bill won Senate approval by a 54-25 roll call vote, after a vigorous debate.

Fulbright fought the amendment, contending it "would scuttle the effectiveness of the program," and inflate costs. He argued that it would take the bill "far beyond the area of an anti-recession measure."

Said Needed

But Sen. Clifford Case (R-NJ), leading a group of Republican sponsors of the amendment, contended it was a needed step to prevent the lowering of local wage standards. Without it, Case said, outside contractors could come into a locality and win contracts with low bids based on substandard wage scales.

The amendment's foes objected particularly to its requirement that contractors and subcontractors on projects financed through the bill must pay "wages at rates not less than those prevailing on the same type of work on similar construction in the immediate locality as determined by the secretary of labor."

Sen. Thurmond (D-SC) and other opponents objected vigorously that this would amount to giving Washington "bureaucrats" too much authority in local affairs.

The amendment also requires the payment of time and a half for overtime work beyond a 40-hour week.

Smith Heads Reformatory As Of Today

Capt. Harold D. Smith Wednesday takes the reins as superintendent of the Nebraska Men's Reformatory.

He succeeds Robert Nichols who resigned as Reformatory head effective Tuesday. D. T. Higbee will remain as associate superintendent.

Capt. Smith said he probably would not move into the superintendent's quarters on Hawthorne Drive until "sometime after the first of May."

Former head of the criminal division of the Nebraska Safety Patrol, Capt. Smith will head an institution which Tuesday housed some 302 inmates.

3 TOWNS SHOT UP BY CUBA REBELS

Havana (AP) — Rebels fled deep into the mountains around Guantanamo Tuesday after shooting up 3 towns near the U.S. naval base there.

Other hit-and-run raids kept troops and police busy in 3 of Cuba's 6 provinces.

About 500 guerrillas are roaming the Guantanamo area in eastern Cuba. Thirty rebels were reported killed in clashes with troops when they raided the towns of Caimanera, Lima and Jamaica near Guantanamo.

3 Get Fines In Appealed Traffic Cases

Three Lincoln men were fined in Lancaster District Court on traffic charges in connection with Municipal Court convictions they had appealed.

Thomas G. Hall, 55, of 1329 Dawes, pleaded guilty to charges of drunken driving and driving on a suspended license and was fined $100 on each. He was also given 5 days in jail on the suspended license charge and his driver's license was suspended 6 months on the drunken driving charge.

Hall had been fined a total of $200 and sentenced to 30 days in jail on the charges in Municipal Court.

Siegfried H. Pickusch, 19, of 444 F, pleaded nolo contendere (no contest) to a driving on a suspended license charge and was fined $100 and given 5 days in jail. He had been fined $100 and sentenced to a 30-day jail term in Municipal Court.

Charles E. Hatcliff, 20, of 1600 No. 27th, pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of careless driving and was fined $50. He had appealed a Municipal Court conviction of reckless driving on which he also had been fined $50.

Judge Harry A. Spencer heard all 3 cases.

MODEL PLANE RECORD WON BY AMERICA

Van Nuys, Calif. (AP) — A radio-controlled model plane broke the Russian-held endurance record for models Tuesday and landed safely on a dirt road in Van Nuys.

The plane stayed aloft, 5 hours and 29 minutes. The old Russian record was 3 hours 6 minutes. Officials from an International Timing Federation said that Ken Willard's red-and-yellow monoplane made a landing within yards of its take off point.

To win the international record the 40-year-old Willard had to bring the model back to within 500 feet of the road at Sepulveda flood control basin where the plane took off at 6:32 a.m.

Watershed Unit To Hire Field Representative

By Betty Person
Two sub-committees of the State Soil and Water Conservation Committee will recommend to the parent group that an additional field representative be hired as soon as possible to assist local watershed associations in making application for federal funds on projects. Warren Fairchild, executive secretary of the state committee, said the watershed sub-committee and legislative sub-committee have determined that the assistance of an additional field man is necessary, but also that funds are not available at this time to hire one for more than a 9-month period.

The watershed group met in Lincoln Monday, and the legislative group met Tuesday.

Hardin Hits Security Value Placed On Higher Education

"It seems that higher education is being evaluated more as a producer of national security than as a producer of learning," University of Nebraska Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin told the faculty of Wesleyan University Tuesday night.

"The basic purpose of higher education may be further obscured by the rising demand for increased national security," Dr. Hardin said at a dinner launching Wesleyan inaugural week activities for President Vance D. Rogers.

"Much of the anxiety which is being wrung out over education generally appears to be founded in a fear that we are short of missiles; I would feel much better about it if I could believe the great upsurge of interest in education is prompted by a genuine appreciation of the value of learning."

True Purpose
"As educators, we welcome the increased interest in education. But, we have a special responsibility to see that the true purpose of it is not lost in an effort to serve the expedient demands of the moment.

"In the best American tradition the first responsibility of education is to serve the student in the cause of learning."

Dr. David H. Mickey presided at the meeting honoring President and Mrs. Rogers. Special guests included Dr. Raymond Pool, retired University of Nebraska professor who served on the Wesleyan inaugural committee, and newly-elected Board of Trustees President J. D. Anderson and his wife.

The inaugural program Wednesday will spotlight the fine arts, with a tea and the initial showing of an art exhibit representing more than 50 Methodist colleges throughout the nation set from 3 to 5 p.m.

"The Messiah" will be presented at 8 p.m. in C. C. White auditorium by a massed interdenominational choir under the baton of Prof. Oscar Bennett.

Sertoma Elects Six To Board

The new members of the Lincoln Sertoma Club board of directors for 1958-59 are Milton Beechner, Francis Minard, Ed Smith, John Tidball, Tom Yaussi and John Waser, according to Del Lienemann, secretary-treasurer.

Other officers will be elected April 30 and will be revealed at the Inaugural Ball, May 2, at the Cornhusker Hotel.

Stock Market Up For 3rd Session

New York (AP) — The stock market defied poor first-quarter earnings reports Tuesday to make its most vigorous advance in about a month.

It was the third straight session in which the list moved forward with emphasis. The rise tacked gains of fractions to around three points on leading issues.

An estimated $1,540,000,000 in quoted values was added to stocks on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the rise in the Associated Press average.

The market showed an ability to ignore depressing news of poor first-quarter earnings, a drop in industrial production to the lowest level since 1954 and a sharp decline in sales of new cars by General Motors and Chrysler.

Wall Street sources said that once again large supplies of investment cash from the sidelines had bolstered prices. The rails joined the upward parade in the day on word that the administration was reading a statement proposing aid to this troubled industry.

Associated Press advanced 40 stocks rose $1.20 to $163.50 with the industrials up $2.10, the rails up $1.40 and utilities up 20 cents to $14.90 new high for 1958.

There has not been a higher rise in the average since March 21. The volume, however, totaled 2,500,000 shares compared with 2,180,000 shares in the week ending March 13 when 2,830,000 shares were traded.

Of 1,154 issues traded, 639 rose and 515 fell. New highs for the year totaled 86 and new lows, 40.

American Stock Exchange prices were higher on volume of 1,000,000 shares compared with 720,000 Monday.

DEPLANE'S
POSTCARD

Since purchasing a hat at Locke's and an absolute smashing waistcoat in Jermyn street, I think I can speak up on the current state of England, confound it.

What do I read in the journals but Prince Philip is out to trim the budget at Buckingham Palace. He will outfit the Palace by mass production tailors. First India. Now Savile Row! Gadzooks.

I have not been in Buckingham Palace. But have gandered the royal scatter through the iron fence. I do not imagine you run such a place on a couple of hired girls.

In a Palace you must have lackeys and pages. Butlers, footmen, yeomen and ladies-in-waiting. (Though I never knew just what they were waiting for.) Likewise scullions for the scallions. Cooks, grooms, nursemaids, housemaids, chambermaids, milkmaids and barmmaids.

You must have charwomen and chimney sweeps. Serfs, vassals and any self-respecting castle must have a liege man—to take care of the lieges, I suppose.

This is the general Table of Organization for an up-to-date Palace.

You do not keep up a pad like this by buying the maid one black uniform and a white apron for company. It is expensive. But being a Prince is costly business. My ruddy oath, yes.

Up to now, the Palace help have been purchasing the fiddle-and-flute from tailors on Savile Row.

It came as a dreadful surprise then when the Prince handed over the contract to Burton's. Burton's runs suits off for the walk-up-one-flight-and-save trade.

"Cor stone the crows," whispered a Palace flunkie. "Not even a nicker for the old one."

Anyway, the way I get it, the Palace cats must go down to good old Burton's when they need new threads. They get a Princely order. And they must turn in the old suit on the new one. Otherwise they will get their lumps.

I do not think a Prince chops off heads these enlightened days. But he probably would belt the lackey with his scepter or something.

Anyway, as a cat who owes a few quid at this very moment to Simpson's, I have given this quite a bit of thought. I think, Sam, they made the pants too long and the budget too short.

Number one: Buckingham Palace is a great tourist attraction. All us American tourists hang on the picket fence and watch the changing of the guard.

Suppose the doorman opens the door. His tail coat flies open in the breeze. On the inside pocket we read: "Burton's." A comedown.

It is enough to shake the color film trade. You certainly will not catch me using up color film on Palace characters. Not until I get a peek at the label on their foxy pocket.

I am not photographing mass produced garments this season.

I look for a drop-off in the tourist business around the Mall and Birdcage Walk.

Run a low class Palace, you're going to get a bunch of low class tourists. Oh dear, oh dear, yes.

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS
AND NOT KNOW IT!

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infect one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.
